READ INTRODUCTION: The following is a one-time only short questionnaire that will ask you specific questions about your ability to become pregnant and your pregnancy outcomes. We are trying to see if HIV+ women have different reproductive experiences than do HIV- women. In addition, we will be looking at antiretroviral medicines to see if they change this situation. Because we are asking specific questions about prior pregnancies, we do have to include questions that we may have already asked you at your 6-month visits. We do this because we think that this is the best way to collect the important information that we need. We apologize for any repeated questions. Let's start with general information.
