INTRODUCTION: Women with bothersome hair growth often have high levels of a hormone called testosterone. High testosterone can be associated with other medical conditions in women, therefore we would like to know if you have ever had problems with excess, or bothersome hair growth. We would like to know if you remember being troubled by the hair on your body when you were in your teens, 20s or 30s. To answer these questions, if you are older now, think back to this time and try to remember if you had concerns about hair on your body, not the hair on your scalp. This may be hair on your face, chest, abdomen (tummy), and back.
